7 For All Mankind Jeans Support Denim Day

What: Denim Day in LA and Denim Day USA will be held April 22, 2009, giving people the chance to make a social statement with their fashion statement, while supporting survivors of sexual assault and spreading awareness about sexual violence.

Organized annually by Peace Over Violence, Denim Day in LA and Denim Day USA recall an Italian court case that sparked international outrage when judges did not convict a rapist because the victim wore jeans. The judges ruled that because the victim was wearing tight jeans, she must have helped her attacker remove them, thus implying consent.

Since then, Denim Day has grown to become a national movement held annually during April, which is Sexual Assault Awareness Month. More than 600,000 supporters took part in 2008 and more are expected to participate this year, including high school and college students, and employees of leading corporations and businesses.

Schedule: Denim Day rallies, assemblies and informational events will take place at schools, government buildings and worksites throughout the area. Here is a partial list of Denim Day events and visuals in and around Los Angeles:
